A Program of Study (POS) is a student chosen career path option that requires the completion of a sequence of yearlong courses that:

- a) Incorporate both secondary and post-secondary education elements*
- b) Include rigorous content, challenging academic standards and relevant career and technical content*
- c) May allow students to participate in dual or concurrent enrollment programs or otherwise acquire post-secondary credit*
- d) Result in an industry-recognized credential or certificate, measured by an industry assessment*

Once a student begins a program of study, they cannot divert from that program unless they receive administrative approval.
